Session 49: Who is on first base?

Summary: In this session Dr. Roy is asking questions of the Friends. So the reason there is a stable personality is that we see this as normal. When in reality a single person uses multiple aspects of their personality on a daily basis. The person that wakes in the morning with their spouse is not the same business man that negotiates a deal and the same person who plays sports on the weekend. Serves as an example of multi-personality.
